Purpose of the role

To train Aik Saath's young volunteers in the skills necessary to deliver training projects in schools and young people's centres.

To work with volunteers to deliver high quality training in schools and young people's centres.

To engage with schools and other partners to develop new training projects.

To evaluate Aik Saath's interventions and to collate evidence as required by funders.

To contribute to the overall achievement of Aik Saath's aims and objectives.

To work as part of a small, highly committed and mutually supportive team.

Responsible to: Training Manager, Chief Executive Officer and Trustees

Responsible for: Placements and Volunteers

Key Responsibilities

- Recruit young people to join our team of volunteers via the delivery of assemblies and engaging referrals made by Slough Young People's Service.
- Convene meetings with school and youth centre staff to ascertain the needs of their groups.

- Design training programmes with our volunteers to meet these needs and develop new and innovative approaches to helping young people understand issues relating to conflict, identity, racism and cohesion.
- Coordinate the training of young people to co-deliver these programmes, particularly at our weekly meeting on a Tuesday evening.
- Liaise with parents, carers and schools to secure consent where necessary for young people to join you to deliver training to groups of young people.
- Build strong relationships with young people and be a positive role model in their lives.
- Collate evaluative material and other data as required by funders.
- Safeguard young people by following approved child protection and safeguarding procedures.
